

My Little Library Bags - update

The last day that bags can be collected nationally is October 28th.

In April, the national My Little Library Bags initiative was launched where every child starting school in September 2022 can get a free bag of books from their local library. It has been a big success. Dublin City Libraries still have bags that can be collected. Please forward this email to the parents of your junior infants so that if anyone didn't get a bag, that they know that they can still collect one from their local library... while stocks last. Bags can only be handed out in the library on a 'one bag per parent/child' basis.

Following a request from the Department of Children, it was also agreed that My Little Library bags could also be given to older Ukrainian children (up to 8 years) who started school in Ireland this year.

The project is a collaboration between the Department of Children, Equality, Disability, Integration and Youth (DCEDIY), the Department of Rural and Community Development (DRCD), local authorities and the Local Government Management Agency (LGMA).
